

Donald Trump tries to control the world

What goes around, comes around! US president Donald Trump holds different threats in his hands.

By Alice Kirschbaum

Donald Trump, the American president, tries to control the world from China to Russia. He tries to influence Xi Jinping`s Chinese Inner Affairs, the struggle between China and Hong Kong while he is in a contest with the Russian president Putin about the vaccine for Covid 19.

Donald Trump against democracy in Hong Kong

Trump is supporting China to take Hong Kong`s freedom and he supports the idea of China controlling Hong Kong which means taking away the people`s rights and freedom. But what`s the reason for this? China`s economy is one of the strongest in the world, that`s why China is an opponent of America in trade and economy. Donald Trump wants to cooperate with China and therefore he supports China in their threatening to oppress the democracy in Hong Kong.

Hong Kong, as a former colony of Great Britain, has a western democratic system which is different from the communistic political system of China ruled by the Head of State Xi Jinping. Donald Trump needs China on his side and that`s why he wants to help China take control of Hong Kong. While the people of Hong Kong are fighting to keep their democracy, Donald Trump tells them to go to hell.

Donald Trump in new Cold War with Russia

Donald Trump is trying even more than that. Since the Cold War, which started in 1947, America and Russia have been in a competition. But Donald Trump and Putin are pushing the competition to another level. They are thriving on who will be first to create a vaccine to fight Covid- 19.

Apart from having a lot of victims and dead cases of Covid-19 both countries, Russia and America, it is very important for both presidents to win the race for the vaccine. It`s not only because of winning against the other president, it is also important because there is a lot of money to be earned.

There is a run for the vaccine

Putin already made a vaccine, is testing it and now claims to be the winner. But the world sees it differently. Obviously Donald Trump doesn`t want to lose the competition and is still working on an accepted vaccine.

But even though they`re contenders in one matter, Donald Trump`s statement through a letter that he is a big fan of Putin shows they need each other and are still supporting one another in many ways. It`s all about business. In other words, Donald Trump is trying to enlarge his influence on other countries and their politics, but Xi Jinping and Vladimir Putin also know how to play their cards.
